
Bridget Cohen is a User-Experience Engineer at Open Campus Jobs & a student at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. She enjoys working on mobile designs and complex ideas.

Experience

Open Campus Jobs

Saratoga Springs, NY
April 2014–Present

User-Experience Engineer

Create wireframes, interactive mockup, and run user testing pre-launch of Project Open Campus' mobile application. Following an Agile UX Process. www.opencampusjobs.com

Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute

Troy, NY
January 2012–Present

Senior Course Developer Assistant

Provide assistance with instructional design support to faculty using the RPI LMS (Web CT) website. Create documentation to assist users on using the website. Meet with instructors to troubleshoot and teach them how to use the website.

Credit Suisse

New York, NY
May–August 2014

Summer IT Analyst: Business Engineer

Created self-reporting and self-sustaining rotational list using SharePoint Designer and InfoPath. Assisted with key team tasks including QC reports. Determined attributes of employee personas and pulled data using queries and sort data accordingly. Created relevant device recommendations.

Allen & Gerritsen

Boston, MA
June–August 2013

Web Development Intern

Create wireframes for an internal performance management system as well as for clients including: a major ice cream chain Friendlys, a young running apparel company called Janji. Create & run usability testing on the current Janji website. Update client websites using HTML5, CSS3, & JQuery. Create a rapid prototype for the internal performance management system using Foundation 4, HTML5, CSS3, & JQuery. Create intern website using Foundation 4, CSS3, HTML5, JQuery.

Education

Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute

August 2011–May 2015

B.S. Communications: HCI (3.42 Overall GPA)

Minor in Information Technology and Web Science

Skills

Technology: HTML, CSS, Photoshop, Axure, OmniGraffle, Balsamiq, SharePoint, JavaScript

Expertise: Usability Testing, User-Centered Design, Information Architecture, Web Design